Comprehension Question

3. Which of the following is NOT an emotions result when we forget God's grace?

	We may become:	Instead, we must:
A.	Filled with anxiety. "If I slip up, if I make a wrong move here, I could lose everything."	"All the things I have are really gifts of grace. They aren't here because of my performance, but by God's generosity. He loves me enough to lose his only Son for me, surely he will continue to give me what I need. Console yourself"
B.	Filled with pride and anger. "I am not getting what I deserve! People are not treating me right! Who do they think they are?"	"All the things I have are really gifts of grace. I have never gotten what I deserve — and I never will! If God gave me what I deserved, I'd be dead. Humble yourself."
C.	Filled with guilt. "I have blown it! My problems mean he's abandoned me."	"All the things I have are the results of God's grace. I never earned them to begin with — so I couldn't have un-earned them. He accepted me long ago even though he knew I would do this. This was in my heart all along — I just didn't see it, but he did. He's with me now. Be confident, Self."
D.	Filled with wonder. "All the things I have — everyone — is a gift of grace. The very fact I am a Christian is a miracle."	"Sure, I'm a Christian. Sure I have good things. So what?" Be bored and lethargic.
